

Christmas 2021 Greetings from En-Gedi Children's Home

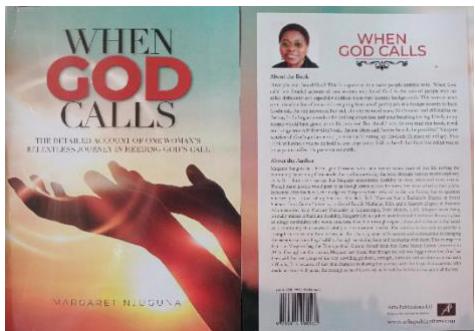

Glory and honor belong to our Lord God who has given us another year to live, to share his love, to care for His special children together, and to appreciate each other as His children. Special thanks to all of you who have kept in touch with us through prayers, mail, phone calls, zoom meetings, visitations, material and financial support.

All around us and indeed globally, people have suffered from the pandemic and many have been affected in one way or other. We all have. As Christians, our encouragement comes from the book of Isaiah 41:10 "So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand". I thank God that He has sustained all of us here and all of you receiving this letter. We have learned to live one day at a time and to take each day as it comes. Hopefully the New Year will come with good tidings to make travels - local and international easier. I plan to visit North America in 2022 – God willing.

In my last newsletter, I had shared the need for more wheelchairs for our children and I want to register my great appreciation to those of you who gave funds for the same. We received funds for the wheelchairs from four families. Some of the extra funds bought some therapy equipment and tools, and some helped us meet other needs. Thank you so much for adequately responding to that need. Please continue to pray with us for God's continued providence.

I thank God that my book, "When God Calls" - a personal testimony on how God called me into disability ministry, has finally been published. For you my friends and colleagues in North America, I am working on shipping the books to one location, then distribute them to the various places I will visit when I come. I am working on getting the e-book on Amazon as well.

As we all celebrate Christmas this year, let us remember to give thanks to God who has sustained us and allowed us to see each new day. Let's also pray that we will all see 2022 and that God will walk through the year with us, watching over us and keeping us in His loving care.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas and a happy 2022!
